

WEBINAR

Delegate More to Achieve More

Date: Tuesday, April 19, 2022

Time: 10:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m. CT

Speaker:

Jeff Whitehorn, LFACHE, ACC

Cost: $195 (per hospital, no charge for additional lines)

Target Audience

Health care leaders & human resource professionals.

Course Curriculum

As a leader, have you ever felt overwhelmed and that you're "drowning in work?" You watch your peers and others leave their jobs on time to go home but you're still working. Do you want more time to focus on what you, as the leader, should focus on? If so, learn to become a great delegator. Effective delegation is a vital leadership skill that can help you succeed and advance in your career. But most leaders struggle with delegation. Jeff Whitehorn shares some delegation strategies learned during his leadership journey that will help you improve your delegation skills.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this session, participants should be able to:

- Discover four strategies to become a better delegator.
- Identify specific tasks that a leader can delegate to others.

Speaker Bio

Jeff Whitehorn, LFACHE, ACC, is an author, speaker, and executive coach certified by the global accrediting body International Coaching Federation (ICF).

After earning his Bachelor of Science from Lipscomb University and his MBA from the University of Alabama, Jeff spent twenty-nine years as a healthcare executive, serving twenty-five of those as a hospital CEO. He founded Whitehorn Coaching & Consulting after his retirement from HCA Healthcare.

Jeff continues to serve in leadership roles as a member of community boards and within his church. He and his wife, Jennifer, reside in Brentwood, Tennessee. They have two grown daughters, Ashleigh and Emily.

This speaker has no real or perceived conflicts of interest that relate to this presentation.